100 Word Manifesto

My experience derived from health_&_care sector include work at university, for hospital(director), national insurance (chairman), local and regional authority. That experience led me to theoretical and practical conclusion, that even if we organize the perfect system it still does not mean health for the nation. To make people life better, healthier and longer we need to reorganize space of our cities and countryside, transportation and heating, food production and space for physical activity. Nowadays, when European attempt to tackle the climate crisis is splendid opportunity. Almost each of pro-climate policy pillar would be better for public health and there is a big challenge for EPHA and its members.
